The Community Foundation of Northern Illinois (CFNIL) has been investing in the Rockford region since 1953. Our early grants responded to community need by distributing the polio vaccine and building playgrounds. Since its founding, CFNIL has granted more than $63,000,000 to charitable causes. This has been made possible through the generosity of our donors—individuals, families and organizations committed to improving our region’s quality of life. Their endowed gifts will continue to strengthen our community for generations. That’s the power of endowment.

Education has always been a priority for CFNIL. Historically, more than a quarter of CFNIL’s grantmaking has supported education. In 2012, a bequest from Dr. Louis and Violet Rubin significantly increased CFNIL’s grantmaking capacity enabling CFNIL to launch Education Works, a grant strategy that invests in scholarship endowments, after-school programs, and career pathways initiatives.

The Fall 2016 Grant Cycle was the third to accept proposals for Education Works. After reviewing proposals from area nonprofits and educational institutions, CFNIL Trustees committed $635,000* over the next three years to after-school programs and career pathways initiatives in the region. Since its inception, CFNIL Trustees have committed $1,625,664* to programs, projects, and events that align with Education Works.

Fall 2016 is the single largest Community Grants cycle in CFNIL history. It also contains the largest one-year grant made through the program, a $188,622 grant to the University of Illinois College of Medicine at Rockford for its Growing the Next Generation of Healthcare Professionals project. The project will install state-of-the-art labs and learning spaces at the College of Medicine, which will help it accommodate 55 additional medical students per year.

CFNIL will also fund an exhibit by an internationally-renowned artist, a broadly collaborative after-school program in Rochelle, a cutting-edge welding program in Oregon, hearing aids for underinsured seniors, meals for our hungry neighbors, a beautification and revitalization effort in downtown Rockford, and an initiative to swap volunteer hours for YMCA memberships for local teens.

The next application for the Community Grants Program will be open from late August to early October 2017. For more information about CFNIL’s grantmaking and how to apply, please visit www.cfnil.org. To learn how to support CFNIL’s grantmaking, visit www.cfnil.org/endowment.

*Includes multi-year grants. Recipients of multiyear grants need to demonstrate progress toward their anticipated results in order to receive funding for the second and third years.
